The Association for Creativity in Counseling (ACC) announces two research award opportunities for the 2010-2011 year.

1. $250: ACC will award one (1) $250 grant for professional members' research in the area of creativity in counseling
2. $250: ACC will award one (1) $250 grant for graduate student research in the area of creativity in counseling

Purpose: The purpose of these grants is to support research that increases understanding of the use of creativity in counseling.

SUBMISSION DEADLINE:

The submission deadline for the Research Proposals and supporting material is due no later than November 30, 2010.

WHO MAY APPLY:

The competition is open to professional and student members of the Association for Creativity in Counseling (ACC). Practitioners as well as students are encouraged to apply.

Individuals may submit, or be a part of a submission team, for only one proposal. Multiple submissions by any researcher, individually or as a part of a multiple research team, will not be accepted.

PROPOSAL FORMAT:

Research Proposal should not exceed 3 typed pages (not including application page below) and should adhere to APA format. Be sure to cover the following areas:

- Review of the literature (detailing relevance of research to creativity in counseling)
- Research design and methodology
- Financial Need (please provide a detailed budget). In addition, please indicate if the researcher has received funding from any other source towards the project
- Dissemination of results (describe how the results will be presented – manuscript submission, conference presentations, etc.)

CRITERIA: Research proposals will be evaluated against the following criteria:

- Proposed topic is within the scope of creativity in counseling
- Literature review indicates the relevance of research and practice related to creativity in counseling
- Research design and methodology are consistent with proposal and adhere to ethical standards for research
